Dear Mr. Cummings:

Thank you for your inquiry to CDC-Info. We are sorry for the delay in responding to your inquiry. A recent high volume of inquiries has slowed our response time. In response to your request for information on multistate investigation of fungal meningitis among patients who received steroid injections, we are pleased to provide you with the following information.

Please continue to work with the authorities at your correctional facility along with your health department. These are the appropriate points of contact to address your concerns.

Please note that the CDC is a non-regulatory, non-enforcement federal agency related to disease investigation. CDC relies on its public health partners at the local and state level to address and solve health problems and issues in their local area. CDC can only provide assistance to state investigators at the formal request of state health departments. As such, the first level of response for your concerns is to contact your local or state health department.

You may wish to contact your state health department for their information and guidance.
